

Problem and Solution

In most stories good things and bad things happen to the stars of the story. This makes the story interesting and exciting. As the story continues, or keeps going, it usually ends with a happy ending for the main character.

