

Characters

The characters are the stars of the story. They are created, or thought up by the author, or writer of the story. Readers can work out what a character is like by noticing what the character thinks or says and how they act.

