

Problem and Solution

Most stories have a problem.

The problem is a bad thing, or something not good that happens to one of the important stars of the story.

The problem is usually solved so the story has a happy ending.

Skilful readers try to predict how the problem will be resolved, or solved.